

Pre-Order FAQs

What sizes are available in the Super Suit?

We have suits that range in size from XS – 4XL.

How much do the Super Suits weigh?

Suits range in weight from just over 4 lbs in our XS suit to 8lbs in our 4XL Suit. Each size has an increase in about ½ a pound in weight. These weights were from our first-generation super suits. We've made major improvements in our to go to market Super Suits and they will weigh just in a little less. Once we have the new size set complete, we'll update everyone with the new weights.

Can you add weight to the suit?

No, our current design does not allow you to add weight to the suit. The suit weight is determined by the amount of fabric used in the size. The more fabric, the greater the suit will weigh.

Where does the weight come from if you don't use external weight sources like gel, sand, metal or plastic?

Our patent-pending Super weighted fabric uses heavy fibers to give our suit weight. By creating a fabric that is weighted without external weight sources, it's safe to use for contact, non-contact and combat sports practices and training as there are no foreign bodies to risk injury on the suit.

Are your Super Suits designed for Men & Women?

Our current Suit design is designed for men, however all of the sizes also fit women. It takes substantial capital to bring a product to market and in our current phase we had enough capital to design a suit for the male body. We're extremely excited to work with our design team and women athletes who will help us create a product specific to the female body. Our goal is to be able to launch a women's version of the Super Suit by the end of the 2026, but current sizes can accommodate women.

What type of guarantee does your company have to ensure I will receive my Super Suit as I'm purchasing a pre-order?

Our Founder is extremely motivated in providing first-class customer service. If at any point you're not satisfied with your order experience we're happy to provide a full refund for funds paid.

Why is shipping planned to take so long?

We're in the final stages of our go to market design process. We've identified a major opportunity to increase the performance of our weighted fabric and once we receive the new fabric we'll begin the final stages of manufacturing in 2026.

Are there any additional perks being offered to becoming one of the first customers to order your weighted compression Super Suit?

Absolutely! By placing your pre-order you're becoming a "Founding Customer." Perks will include discounts for future new products, opportunities to test new products, invitations to future events, opportunities to join focus groups to present your ideas on how we can make our weighted products even better. Imagine creating the "Avengers" in real life. That's our goal, to create a dynamic community of men, women and kids pushing themselves to reach their greatest potential in sports and fitness. Our "Founding Customer" community will be one superhero community you'll definitely want to be a member of.

How will I know what size Super Suit fits me?

Once our new size set is complete, we'll set up a photoshoot with models so you can see what the product looks like on certain body types. We'll make sure to include their height and weight so you have the best information to select the size that fits you best.

Will I get hot wearing the Super Suit?

The Super Suit is designed to increase workout intensity to increase overall sports and fitness performance. Depending on temperature inside and outside and the intensity of workout or practice you will get hotter wearing the suit. The suit is designed to be breathable and moisture wicking and not keep you warm in colder temperatures. Best ways to cool down wearing the suit is to pour cold/cool water on your head or down the inside of the front and back of the suit.

What health risks will I have wearing the Super Suit for a practice or workout?

We encourage everyone to consult your physician anytime you plan to start a new workout or practice routine, regardless of your current state of physical and mental health.

What type of performance results can I expect from working out and training in the Super Suit?

Please visit our “Science” page on our website to learn more about our independent sports science study completed with The Sports Product Testing Group at the Canadian Sports Institute.

What sports benefit from training or practicing in the Super Suit?

All sports and athletes on all levels that we've tested our product with have benefitted using our weighted compression Super Suit. We feel strongly that our product is the future of sports performance and fitness and will help anyone achieve their sports and fitness goals.
